Castle Oron

The Alice Paquelier-Gaïffe Bedroom

This bedroom is dedicated to Alice Paquelier-Gaïffe, wife of Daniel Gaïffe, last owners of the Oron castle who lived on the site. Mrs. Gaïffe was a painter and the walls are decorated with her watercolours. Mrs. Gaïffe lived in the castle with her husband until 1936.

The stove is decorated with hunting scenes and illustrations from La Fontaine's Fables.

The Bed

Most visitors are surprised by the size of the bed. They deem its length to be 160 cm. In fact, this bed measures 198 cm.

Furniture pieces often look smaller because the size of the rooms is not that which we are used to see in everyday life. The castle's apartments spans over 1,000 square metres and the area of a bedroom varies from 50 to 110 square metres.
