Castle Oron

The Hunting Room

This room, which was restored in 2010, contains a rare panorama painted on paper at the beginning of the 19th century. The panorama displays a nice hunting scene. Through the centuries this room was used in several ways: as a bedroom for the paymaster during the era of the bailiffs, as a summer dining room, and as a bedroom during the GaiFFE family's occupancy.

The Hunting Room before the 2010 Remodelling

Probing has shown that the oldest coat of paint was blue. This is why the room was repainted blue after the remodelling.

Did you notice the chimney next to the stove? It is a false chimney which was used to store wood for the stove of this room and the big stove in the music room.

Detail of the panorama

This room was restored in 2010 thanks to the generous help of:
